

HISTORY AD

The term AD stands for 'Anno Domini' which translates to 'the Year of Our Lord'.

 Roman Empire 43 - 410	The Roman Empire was the largest empire in the ancient world and its capital was Rome. They developed the best army in the world at that time and ruled by force. The Romans had great engineering. They built many large public buildings, aqueducts to carry water, bridges and roads. The Romans enjoyed entertainment such as chariot races, gladiator fighting and theatre performances.
 Anglo Saxons 410 to 1066	The Anglo Saxons invaded Britain when the Romans left. They came to Britain from Europe and were made up of 3 tribes. The Anglo-Saxons didn't like the stone houses left by the Romans so they built their own houses out of wood and straw. Many towns and villages still carry their Anglo-Saxon names today, including "England" which comes from the Saxon word "Angle-Land".
 Vikings 793 to 1066	The word Viking means 'a pirate raid'. The Vikings would board their long ships (up to 37m long) and head across water to invade new lands. They had the reputation of being bloodthirsty but some wanted to settle as farmers, growing crops and keeping animals. In 1066 we saw the end of the Viking era when King Harold Godwinson defeated them. This battle is known as the Battle of Hastings.
 Victorians 1837 to 1901	The Victorian era was during the reign of Queen Victoria who ruled for 64 years. It was a tremendous time of change for British people. Factories, machines and railways were built. The population of people living in Britain more than doubled. If you were poor, you would often live and work in the workhouse. Many children worked in dangerous conditions competing jobs such as fixing machines in factories or sweeping chimneys. Up until 1891 families had to pay for their children to go to school.
