

DAME ZAHA MOHAMMAD HADID

WHO WAS ZAHA HADID?

Zaha Hadid was a famous architect who designed many unique and modern buildings around the world. She was born on 31 October 1950 in Baghdad, Iraq. Her work is admired for its creative and futuristic designs. She became the first woman to win the Pritzker Architecture Prize in 2004, which is one of the most important awards for architects. Her buildings are known for their flowing shapes and bold designs that look different from traditional buildings.

FAMOUS BUILDINGS

Some of her most famous designs include the London Aquatics Centre, which was built for the 2012 Olympics, and the Guangzhou Opera House in China. She also designed museums, bridges, and even furniture. Her work has inspired people all over the world.

WHY WAS SHE IMPORTANT?

Zaha Hadid showed that women could achieve great success in architecture, a field that was once mostly led by men. She encouraged others to think creatively and push boundaries in design.

WHEN DID SHE PASS AWAY?

She passed away on 31 March 2016 in Miami, Florida, at the age of 65. Even though she is no longer alive, her designs and ideas continue to inspire architects and designers everywhere. Zaha Hadid's buildings and achievements remind us of the power of creativity and determination to shape the world in new and exciting ways.

FIND OUT MORE...

Facts about Dame Zaha Mohammad Hadid

EXAMPLE QUESTIONS:

1. When and where was Zaha Hadid born?
2. What important prize did she win in 2004?
3. What are some of Zaha Hadid's most famous buildings?
4. Why was Zaha Hadid important in the field of architecture?
5. When did Zaha Hadid pass away, and where?