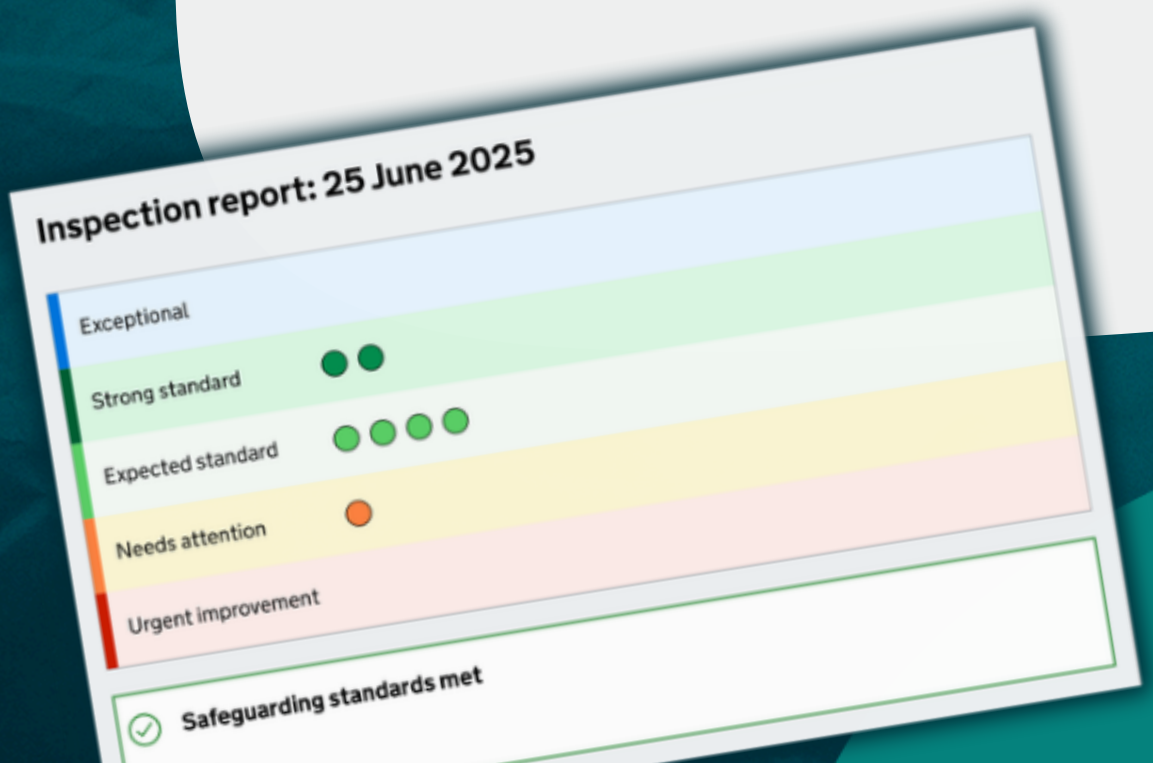
Ofsted

📣 Calling all parents 📣

We've introduced new-style report cards to make inspection results clearer for you.

You might want to read report cards when you're comparing local schools, nurseries, childminders or colleges, or you might want to check where your child already attends.



The biggest change 👇

There’s no longer one overall judgement (like ‘good’ or ‘outstanding’).

Instead, report cards show separate grades for key areas, like:

- achievement
- personal development and wellbeing
- attendance and behaviour
- inclusion

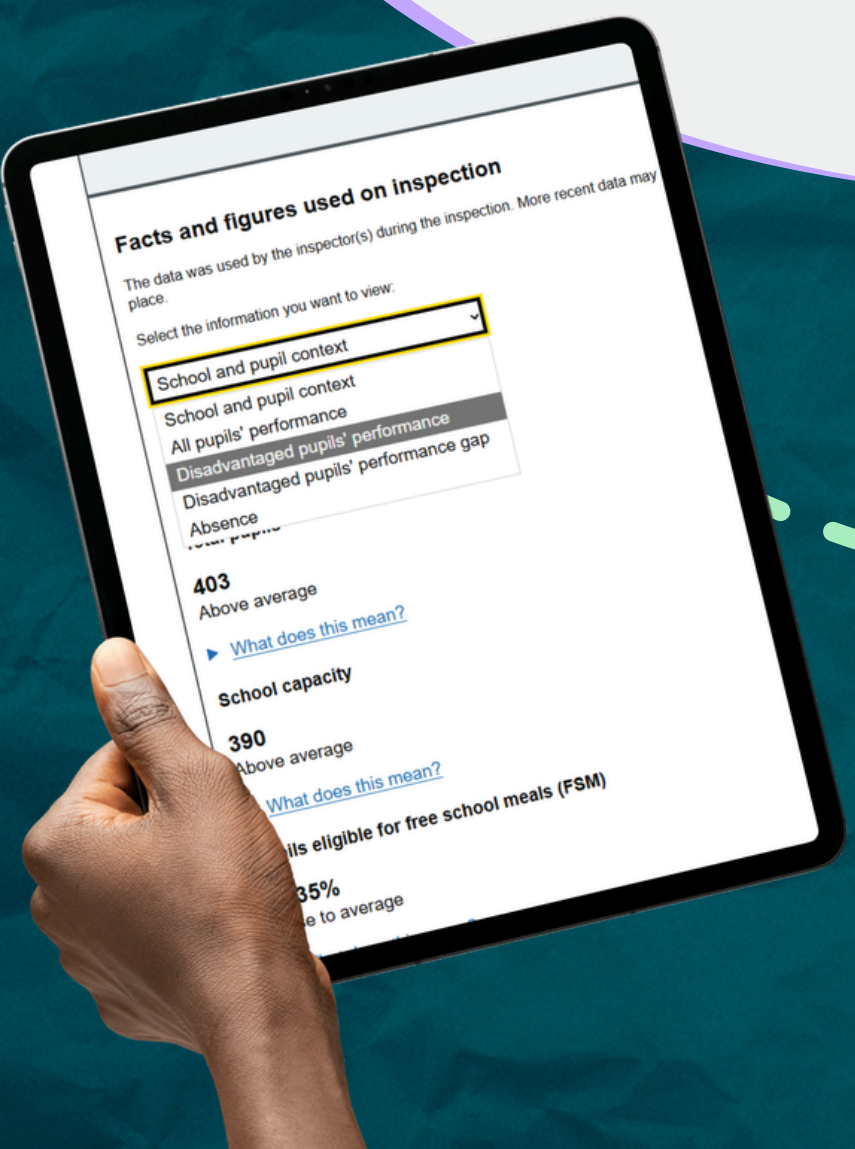
The new grading scale

Each area is rated on a 5-point scale:

- Exceptional
- Strong standard
- Expected standard
- Needs attention
- Urgent improvement

Safeguarding is reported separately as:

- ✅ Met
- ❌ Not met

You can also see key data, like the number of children at a school, number of apprenticeships at a college, or age range of children at a nursery.


Find out more at the link above ☝